

I am Daeshaun Gouldbourne, 18 years old son of Claretta Holmes and Daemian Gouldbourne. I was born at the Victoria Jubilee Hospital in Kingston, Jamaica on the 10th of October, 2001. I currently live at Bamboo Lane District, Crofts Hill, Clarendon in Jamaica. I am a student of Clarendon College High School, which is located in Chapelton, Clarendon. I have been attending Clarendon College for seven years and I currently serve as the Head Boy. I am a past student of the Kellits Primary School where I also served as head boy from 2012 to 2013.

At Clarendon College, I sat the CSEC exams and was successful in nine subjects. These subjects are: Principles of Accounts, Spanish, English Language, Mathematics, Geography, Information Technology, Physics, Biology and Chemistry. I also passed four CAPE subjects, these are: Information Technology, Physics, Geography and Communication Studies.

My interests include Soccer, Computers, Photography and Music. In my spare time I watch and play a lot of soccer; my favorite soccer team is Liverpool in England. I am fascinated with the operation of computers as they make work easier and can complete almost any task in minutes. I like taking and editing pictures to perfection. I have been a huge fan of music ever since I was a child, I am also a great songwriter, I enjoy listening to Reggae Music and Jamaican Dancehall Music.

It is my dream to become an Information Technology Project Manager in the future. I have had this dream since I was a child and I became fascinated with technology and completing tasks on computers. I chose to become an Information Technology Project Manager because I have a passion for working in a leadership position and for organizing and carrying out different projects. I ultimately want to accomplish my own technological organization to provide work for people in the technology field.

My guiding philosophy is a famous quote from Nelson Mandela, it states; "Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world" which is exactly why I value my education more than anything else.

Professional Photo

